Winter Wonderland? Contractors Claims Could Scuttle Navy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new trend in contractor claims that add millions of dollars to shipbuilding costs has been characterized by Chief of Naval Operations Thomas H. Moorer as a threat to the Navy's very existence.

No Merit To Claims

Gordon W. Rule, director of Navy procurement control, told the House-Senate subcommittee on economy Tuesday that shipbuilders have filed more than $1 billion in claims against the Navy—some of them "with no merit at all"—in hopes that they can win at least part of the money through negotiations.

Rule said Moorer wrote the Naval Materiel Command last March that the basing of contractor claims on such alleged cost-boosting Navy actions as last-minute contract changes must be corrected.

May Lose Navy

Moorer added: "We must take action now or ultimately lose our entire Navy."

Moorer's letter did not elaborate and neither did Rule.

The contractor claims have been cited by other Navy officials as a sizable part of the shipbuilding program's estimated $850 million to $1.2 billion cost overruns.

But Rule refused to tell the subcommittee how much of the overrun is in contractor claims or give any other breakdown.

Settlement Unlikely

"I don't want to give the contractors any ideas," he said.

Rule said the more than $1 billion in claims will not be settled for that amount and vowed that future contracts will be scrutinized for language that could lead to a claim.

He said any Navy systems expenditure of more than $5 million must be cleared by him.

Rule, a civilian, also said all military procurement should be turned over to a central civilian agency because military officers are generally not suited to it—and some have vested interests against antagonizing contractors.

Inflation Still Runs Wild

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government statistics show wholesale prices climbed 4.7 per cent in 1969 for the steepest rise in 20 years, adding more fuel to the argument over whether President Nixon's policies can slow inflation.

"It all adds up to the probability that the cost of living is going to continue rising at a fast clip," said Nathaniel Goldfinger, chief economist for the 13.6 million member AFL-CIO.

But Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz, in a separate interview, said White House policies of federal budget cuts, high interest and tight money are beginning to work. "Inflation isn't continuing unabated," Shultz said.

More Restrictions

And Nixon, in signing the tax reform bill Tuesday, indicated even tougher federal budget restrictions to offset tax losses.

"It will make our fight against the rising cost of living more difficult," Nixon said of the estimated $2.5 billion a year government revenue loss from the new tax law.

With one month's figures to go, the Labor Department's Consumer Price Index measuring typical American living costs is up 5.5 per cent for 1969, steepest rise since the 5.9 per cent for all of 1951, a year in which Korean War wage-price controls were imposed. Another rise in living costs in December equal to the 11-month average so far in 1969 would push the rise in living costs to the highest since 1947's 9.1 per cent after World War II wage-price controls were lifted.

Recession Feared

"At this point, we have the beginnings of the worst of all possibilities—the danger of recession without any slowdown in prices," said Goldfinger in expressing the labor federation's opposition to the Nixon anti-inflation policies.

AFL-CIO President George Meany has said only federal controls on all prices, wages and other income would halt sharply rising prices.

The Nixon administration has rejected any thought of wage-price controls.

No Slam-Bang Course

Shultz acknowledged declining economic indicators, but said it was a "moderate" drop necessary to cool off inflation in the economy.

Today's Chuckle

"If our car gets much older," the long-suffering motorist declared, "they'll start issuing it upper and lower plates."

Travelers Warnings Issued In 12 States

Agnew Swings Toward Saigon On Asian Tour

SAIGON (AP) — Saigon prepared today to receive Vice President Spiro T. Agnew as it did President Nixon five months ago, but this time Saigon Radio isn't expected to break the communications blackout imposed for security reasons during the visit.

Informants said the vice president, who is making a 10-nation tour of Asia, would arrive from the Philippines either late tonight or early Thursday, New Year's Day.

There were indications he would remain about 10 hours, meeting U.S. and South Vietnamese leaders and making at least one visit to U.S. troops outside Saigon.

The Radio Corporation of America said in New York Tuesday night that its transmissions from Saigon would be shut down for about 10 hours beginning at 5 a.m. EST. But a few hours later it said it had information Angew's departure from Manila had been delayed until Thursday morning and the blackout had been postponed.

When Nixon came to Saigon last July 3, most communication circuits used by newsmen were cut off during his five-hour stay. American correspondents were threatened with revocation of their credentials if they evaded the blackout to report the visit while it was on.

In the midst of the blackout, however, the South Vietnamese government's Saigon radio announced Nixon's arrival and reported what he did, including his lengthy meeting with President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Embarrassed U.S. officials later apologized to American newsmen and said the broadcast resulted from a "misunderstanding." However, a South Vietnamese official indicated his government decided to make the broadcast for "political reasons"—to give maximum publicity to Nixon's complimentary remarks about Thieu.

2 Children Die In U.P. Blaze

NORWAY (AP) — Trapped in their upstairs bedroom, two young children died in a fire at their Norway home Tuesday. They were daughters of Mrs. Rita Hauptrecht, Kim Marie 3, Shelia 4.

Two Norway firemen were injured slightly fighting the blaze in the two-story frame home. The children were trapped in an upstairs bedroom.

Neighbors, who turned in the alarm, said they were attracted by cries for help from Mrs. Hauptrecht outside the burning home.

Other details were not immediately available. Norway is about 10 miles east of Iron Mountain on U.S. 2.

2 Michigan GIs Killed In Combat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department Tuesday released the names of two more Michigan servicemen killed in action in Vietnam.

They were identified as Army Sgt. Robert L. Emery of Marine City, and Navy Seaman Thomas S. Stafford of Port Huron.

Emery is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Laverne F. Emery of 315 Fairbanks St., Marine City, and Stafford is listed as living at 3109 Armour St. in Port Huron.

Open Housing Law Slated For Strict Backing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1968 open housing law becomes fully effective Thursday, buttressed by a pledge of vigorous enforcement from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

On New Year's Day, approximately 34 million single-family homes will be added to the 20 million apartments, multi-family houses, and new subdivision homes already covered by the first two stages of the fair housing statute.

"We intend to demonstrate to the people that we really intend to enforce the statute," said Samuel J. Simmons, assistant HUD secretary for equal opportunity.

Simmons pledged HUD in 1970 would at least double the 16 "pattern or practice" housing discrimination cases referred to the Justice Department for prosecution in 1969. Eight suits were subsequently filed.

"Pattern or practice" cases can involve such things as a real estate brokers' association that deliberately steers Negro homeowners away from certain neighborhoods or an apartment house owner who shuns black applicants.

Simmons also plans a stepped-up education campaign that he expects will lead to a substantial increase over the 927 individual complaints processed by HUD this year.

President Plans Quiet New Years

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Declaring that he arrived with a clean briefcase, President Nixon says he'll make but one public appearance while in California—to register as a local voter.

Leaving the slush and snow of Washington, Nixon flew here Tuesday with wife Pat and daughter Tricia for a holiday stay of a couple of weeks at their seaside home.

After Air Force One set down at El Toro Marine Air Station, Nixon told a welcoming crowd of several thousand:

Plans To Register

"While we are here we'll only participate in one public event. The three of us are going to register as voters in California, our home state."

In 1968, Nixon, his wife and Tricia cast absentee ballots as registered voters in New York. They have not voted since.

Having sold his Manhattan apartment, Nixon had a choice between establishing his voting residence here or in Key Biscayne, Fla., where he owns two adjoining houses. As had been expected, he has tipped the balance in favor of his native California.

Remained In Capitol

The President postponed the start of his holiday stay for four days and remained in Washington to settle major budget decisions. However, he said last week that some last minute budget matters would be handled here.

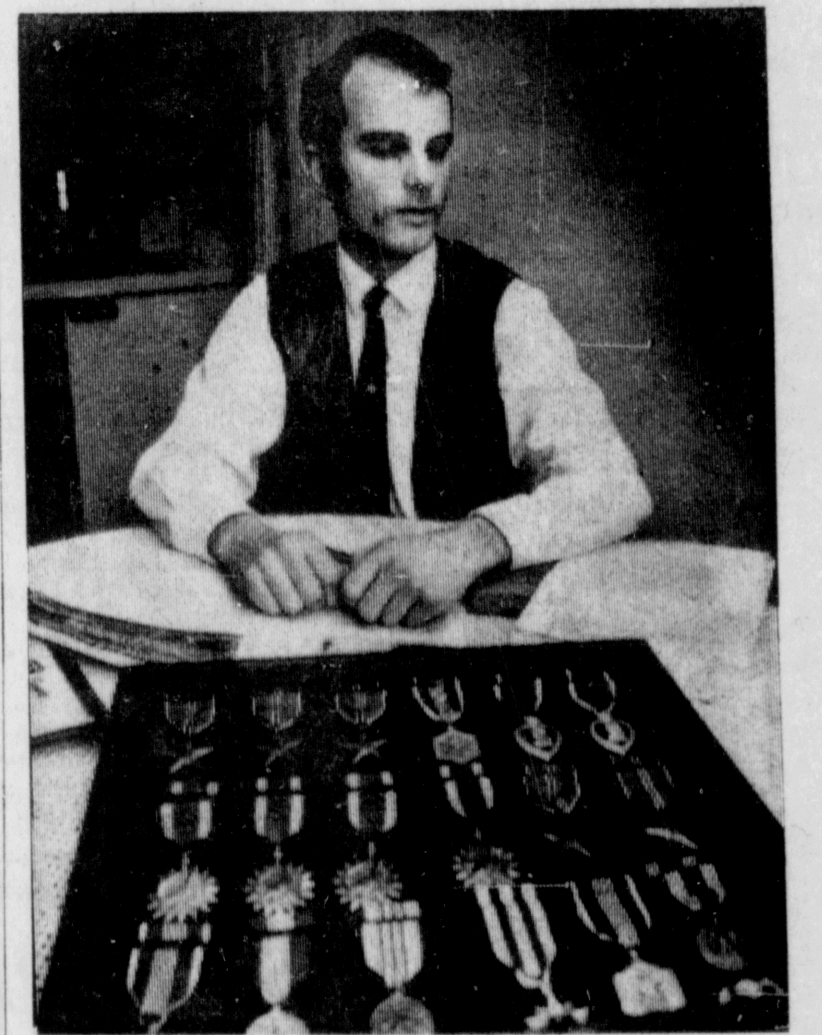

Nixon also brought with him about a score of bills passed by Congress in its final days before adjournment. These will require action while he is here.

Works On Message

Aides suggested Nixon's principal preoccupation at San Clemente would be preparations for the State of the Union Message he will deliver personally to Congress on Jan. 22.

Accompanying him here were Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, his principal foreign policy advisor, and John D. Ehrlichman, the No. 1 staff assistant in the domestic policy field.

War Hero Needs Help

UNLESS A Veterans Administration hospital offers him rehabilitation for possible effects of war combat, Michael Sharp, above, could face 15 years in prison for holding up a gas station. Sharp, who holds two Purple Hearts, five Bronze Stars and several commendation medals, could not explain his actions in the gas station hold-up, which included crawling through the grass in uniform and carrying an M-1 carbine as he approached the station, which he proceeded to rob. Space Program Cuts Foreseen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A decision to shut down—and possibly auction off—a major new research center even before it gets into full operation points to possible broad cutbacks in the nation's space program.

"We are not going to have a larger budget, congressional action on taxes has caused us to be cut back, and as a result, we have to find ways of economizing," said administrator Thomas O. Paine of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

First victim of the economy axe was NASA's ultra-modern Electronics Research Center at Cambridge, Mass., a 29-acre complex of six buildings now nearing completion at a cost of $36 million.

Some 100 specialists in advanced electronics research already have been installed in the new facilities. An additional 750 are housed in temporary rented quarters. NASA had planned to invest about $60 million and employ several thousand persons to make this the heart of government study programs in the electronics field.

In its annual report earlier this year NASA credited the Cambridge center with:

—A discovery that the electrical output of certain semiconductor materials was extremely sensitive to applied pressure. This led to development of a minute device transforming pressure into an electric signal, which made it possible to measure, from inside the heart of an anesthetized dog, details of blood pressure variations during the heart's pumping cycle.

—Developing and testing an instrument to measure with unprecedented accuracy eye pupil size, blink rate and direction of gaze, without attachment to the subject. NASA said the device should be useful in determining the best arrangements for cockpit instruments, in measuring mental alertness, in studying how children learn to read, and in gun and camera aiming systems.

Paine flew to Boston Monday to make the closure announcement.

24-Hour Truce Slated For GIs

SAIGON (AP) — American and South Vietnamese forces suspended combat operations Wednesday night for a 24-hour New Year's truce after reporting more than 200 enemy killed during the previous hours of the Viet Cong's unilateral ceasefire. It was one of the highest enemy death tolls in more than a month.

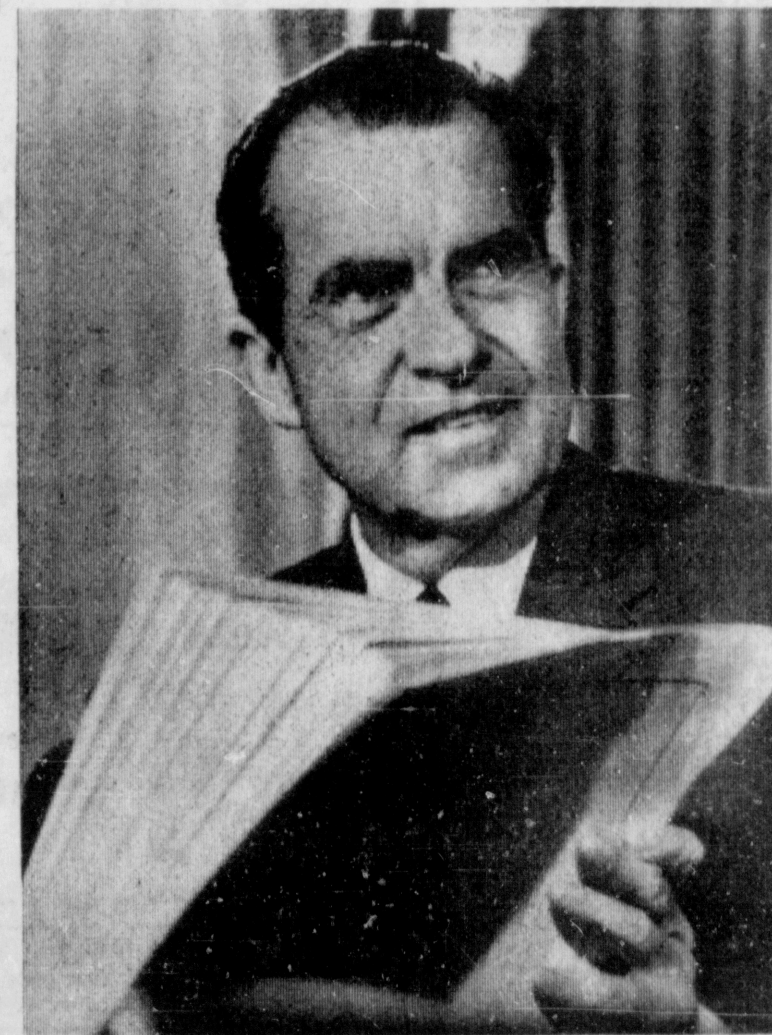

The 72-hour Viet Cong ceasefire began at 1 a.m. Tuesday and the allied truce at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

South Vietnamese headquarters said it had halted 50 offensive operations of battalion size or larger.

The U.S. Command said all planned air and artillery strikes across South Vietnam were suspended, but reconnaissance patrols continued to check on enemy troops building up for a possible attack after the ceasefire.

"All measures will be taken to insure security of our troops and installations," a spokesman said, presumably meaning that air and artillery support would be used if deemed necessary.

The ceasefire did not affect American air operations over Laos. B-52 strategic bombers and smaller fighter-bombers kept up heavy raids on North Vietnamese supply routes and depots in eastern Laos.

Executive Volunteers:

Douglas To Assist Industry In Korea

"I want to do things. I'm not ready to retire yet," George S. Douglas of Escanaba told fellow Rotarians who honored him at the House of Ludington Tuesday noon for his service to the community.

Suiting action to the words, Douglas and his wife, Margaret, of 709 5th Ave. S., are preparing for a stay of three months or more in South Korea, where Douglas will serve as consultant to paper-making firm at Sumon near Seoul.

Douglas was manager of the Escanaba Paper Co. for the Mead Corp., was succeeded earlier this year by O.C. Christiansen, and continues with Mead in a consulting capacity.

Ruling out retirement and winters of golf in the South, Douglas became interested in a volunteer service project to underdeveloped countries through International Executive Services Corp., which was founded in 1964 and is sponsored by about 200 of America's top business firms. It is supported largely by the sponsoring firms with assistance from the governments involved.

Executive Volunteers

The purpose is to send people of training to developing countries, said Douglas. "Money is not the only thing these countries need — they need technical advice also." Through Executive Services consultants are provided covering a broad range of business interests ranging from banking and manufacturing to personnel.

Douglas volunteered his executive talent and was offered the opportunity to work on two different projects, both in Korea, and selected the paper mill assignment at Sumon. The firm is centered in Seoul.

Douglas said the paper industry he will serve on a volunteer basis is small but adequate for Korea. The job pays expenses but no salary. The tour of duty is for three months that may be extended to six months. Wives are encouraged to accompany their husbands.

Leave In February

"I'm all set to go," he said. "About mid-January I will go to New York for a briefing and then Mrs. Douglas and I will leave for Korea."

Born in Tacoma, Wash., Douglas received a degree in chemical engineering from the University of Washington; joined the Mead Corp. development department as an engineer in 1937; became assistant to the executive vice president of Mead in 1951; and came to Escanaba as division manager in 1953.

The expansion by the Mead Corp. of the Escanaba Paper Co. operations here took place because all of the top executives of Mead favored it, the financial people believed in it, and the executives sold it to the corporation — and it was not a George S. Douglas project, said Douglas.

However, local management can show a good operation and that brings confidence in its future, he pointed out.

Praises Christiansen

The past is history and today is an entrance to the future, he said. There should be honors to O.C. "Chris" Christiansen, the new Escanaba Paper Co. manager, and recognition of his great responsibilities in bringing to successful operation the expanding operations, which call for the fitting of men unskilled in new positions to the new equipment they must operate. That will be a rough job, he said.

Thomas Straebel, president of the Rotary Club, conducted the meeting, and John W. Anthony, Rotarian, described the contributions in service to the community by Douglas, including work with Escanaba Junior Achievement, of which he is president, with the Boy Scouts, and through the Rotary Club's several committees. Douglas was presented with a pen and pencil set.

Douglas is a past president of the Escanaba Country Club and is a director of the Northern Michigan National Bank.

WELCOME THANKS

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—The state trooper's lot is not always a series of complaints from motorists. Trooper Robert J. Cooksey has received letters from drivers he arrested for drunkenness—thanking him for saving them from serious accidents.

Schools Beset By Snowmobilers

Snowmobile users are creating problems again. This time, snow machine operators are using the hilly and partly wooded area in the extreme southwest corner of the Area High School property.

"This area is the site of a conservation planting project, and these seedlings are endangered by snowmobiles running over them. Snowmobiles should not be in the area," pointed out Supt. Luther Barrett.

According to Barrett, snow vehicles are operating in droves on the open area just west of the high school building. They are also running their machines on the drives and parking lots. This packs the snow and makes it difficult to plow those areas with the equipment the schools have," he said.

The high school property is not a designated snowmobile area. "It's against the law to operate a snowmobile on the high school property," said Capt.

Richard Lundin of the Escanaba police.

The City of Escanaba has designated just two areas in the city where snow machines are to be used. One is the portion of Ludington Park lying east of Jenkins Drive. The other is west of the housing development which lies west of the high school.

"I understand that persons owning snowmobiles need wide open areas in which to operate them, and that the broad expanse behind the high school is inviting," Barrett said, "but I appeal to snowmobilers to refrain from driving their machines on school property."

Barrett stated that the schools would not be responsible for any accidents which might happen on the property.

He said that he might approve the use of snowmobiles in the flat area west of the high school if, in exchange, snowmobilers would not use the drives, parking lots, conservation area, nor the front lawns of the school where trees or shrubs might be damaged.

Diaper-Wearing Skindivers Plan New Year's Dip

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Three skydivers, say they plan to parachute from a plane into English Bay New Year's day wearing giant diapers with banners saying 1970.

The trio also will be wearing leotards, helmets and sneakers for protection against the cold of a 4,000-foot jump and 40-degree water.

The jump will mark the 50th anniversary of Vancouver's Polar Bear Club, whose members indulge in wintertime dips in the cold water.

Marquette Firm Obtains 25,000 Acres In U.P.

MARQUETTE — The Gannon Lumber Corp. of Marquette has purchased 25,000 acres of forest land in Marquette County from Harry Webber estate in one of the largest land sales in the Upper Peninsula in modern times.

William Gannon, corporation president, said about 20,000 acres will be placed in the corporation's management system to provide timber for Gannon's two mills in Marquette. The remaining 5,000 acres will be sold as recreational property.

Gannon declined to reveal the purchase price.

The land, he said, is mostly mixed conifer and hardwood. It has been held by the Webber family since being acquired in the 1910s by William Webber, a wealthy Detroit who was the father of Harry Webber. The latter died two years ago.

Gannon employs about 70 workers in the corporation's two mills in Marquette. Approximately 30 more men are engaged in woods work to supply the mills.

The 5,000 acres that will be sold for recreational lands includes all the land around Bear Lake near Big Bay, frontage on Bob's Lake near the Yellow Dog River and on several small lakes in northern Marquette County.

Borders McCormick Tract

Some of the purchased land lies along the Big Bay Road, some borders the McCormick Tract and some fronts on the Yellow Dog River, Little Garlic River, West Branch of the Salmon Trout River, Dead River and the Dead River Basin and several small creeks.

The total acreage involved in the transaction is greater than that in the McCormick Tract (17,000 acres in Marquette and Baraga Counties left to the U. S. Forest Service in the will of Gordon McCormick of Chicago) or the Sylvania Tract (18,000 acres in Gogebic County purchased from private owners by the Forest Service for $5,740,000).

Outlook For The Decade:

Gladstone Plans On Recreation As Key To Growth

By H. J. HENRIKSON and HOWARD KEETON
City of Gladstone

In the coming decade, the City of Gladstone anticipates improvements that will help the community keep pace with our modern society.

Gladstone is situated in an area of outstanding natural beauty. One goal is to utilize the recreational potential for the many visitors to the area, and those who choose to live and work here, while maintaining this beauty as an asset.

With this in mind, we anticipate a new fishing pier, improvement to our existing small boat harbor, and improvements to the City-School Recreation Program.

The topography of Gladstone will be changing within the next 10 years. Ground will be broken in 1970 for the new armory and community building. It will provide a home for our National Guard and will provide facilities which the city has been lacking for large social events and possible accommodations for conventions.

Housing Needed
At the present time, housing is very scarce in Gladstone. In the future it is expected that private concerns will be building apartment buildings. The city has made application for another housing unit for the elderly. It has also applied for low-rent housing for the needy. Expansion of the existing trailer park is also planned. We feel expansion of housing on the bluff will facilitate extension of water and sewer lines to this area.

In the next decade, with the cry for expansion of public services, we feel that a complex of buildings in a central location will be needed for the storage and work space for the Department of Public Works. The buildings now being used by the city are inadequate and scattered.

We feel that the existing City Hall, although an adequate building for the several collection agencies of the city, is not designed for the most economical use of this space. Therefore, we feel that a remodeling of the interior of the city hall should take place within the next decade.

New Water Plant
Our new water filtration plant, which is approximately three quarters completed, will be put into operation in early 1970. The new water capacity will meet residential needs of the future and be a factor in attracting new industry.

New regulations by the state and federal governments on water pollution will necessitate the construction of a new sewage treatment plant.

A paving program, both residential and in the Industrial Park, will begin within the next few years.

The City of Gladstone, as in the past, will also in the future use all its resources to attract new industry to the area.

Change
(The City of Gladstone, besides the changes in the community indicated over the next decade, will change administratively on Jan. 1, 1970, with Howard Keeton taking over as City Manager from H.J. Henrikson. The two men have worked together in past months to make the transition as orderly as possible and also worked together on this "Outlook for the Decade" article.)

Free Funerals Out, Next Of Kin Will 'Get The Message'
BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — The Burlington Free Press, a daily newspaper that has offered free funerals in past years to those who register their intention to drink and drive on New Year's Eve, is offering a different service this year.

Editor Gordon Mills said Monday night the paper will distribute a questionnaire, and if persons who plan to drink and drive this holiday return it, the information will be passed on to the next of kin, should the driver meet misfortune.

The questionnaire will list such information as where the will, bank books and other personal effects are.

Mills said an average of 30 persons each year have registered for free funerals, but the paper never had to pay off.

School Building Bond Issue OK'd For Marquette

LANSING (AP) — The State municipal Finance Commission has approved sale of some $59 million in local bonds at the new 8 per cent interest rate ceiling set earlier this month by the Legislature.

Five of the bond issues, totaling nearly $22.4 million, won their third commission approval.

All $59.5 million worth had been authorized for sale at the previous 6 per cent interest rate ceiling, which was boosted to 8 per cent for 1970 by a bill signed into law last week.

Largest of those approved for the first time at the new rate was a nearly $7.7 million school building and site bond issuance by the city of Marquette.

A printing error — hiking the ceiling to 12 per cent — was not discovered until after acting Gov. James M. Hare had signed the bill and the five projects were approved at 8 per cent. The error meant they had to be reapproved at the higher rate after a new bill was signed.

Those five included two bond issues totaling $7.2 million by Kalamazoo; $7.2 million by Troy, Oakland County; $4.95 million by Ann Arbor, Washtenaw County and $3 million by Southfield, Oakland County.

Upper Peninsula To Furnish 61 For Next Draft

LANSING (AP) — Michigan has been ordered to induct 1,255 19- to 26-year-olds for the month of January, Col. Arthur A. Holmes State Selective Service Director, said today.

The January call for service in the Army and Marine Corps is the first to use the random selection system based on birth dates rather than birth year, under the old system, eldest eligible draft registrants under age 26 were called first.

The State Selective Service office said an additional 7,197 men have been ordered to take physical examinations in January. Those who pass would become eligible for induction in coming months.

Birth dates involved in the January call-up range from Jan. 1, 1944 to Dec. 31, 1950.

The January call included the following from Upper Peninsula counties:

Alger 7, Baraga 2, Chippewa 4, Delta 7, Dickinson 1, Gogebic 3, Houghton 7, Iron 2, Keweenaw 2, Marquette 16, Menominee 7, Ontonagon 1, and Schoolcraft 2.

Winter Weekends Filled With Community Events

Snowmobile races or safaris? Speed skating? Dog sled races? Skiing championships? All-around winter carnivals or festivals? What's your preference for wintertime activity, either as a spectator or participant?

Whatever it may be, chances are you'll find it among more than 40 top events scheduled by Michigan communities through March.

Skating, snowmobile events, dog sled races, ski jumping contests, ice fishing, carnivals, a variety of shows, even a sports car ice run — all are included on the state's winter events calendar.

Snowmobile gatherings, either for races or safaris, top the list with at least 16. There's at least one scheduled each week throughout the winter.

A dozen or more all-around winter carnivals also are on tap.

250 Mile Race
Among the top three Michigan Snowmobile Association sanctioned races is the Thunder Bay 250-mile race, scheduled at the Alpena County Fairgrounds Race Track on Jan. 17. Officials expect 250 machines to qualify for the event before the qualifying cut-off time at 4 p.m. Jan. 13.

The top 35 qualifying speeds will be eligible to compete in the 250-mile, 500-lap race for $4,500 in cash prizes, plus additional merchandise awards. The top 15 finishers will share the purse, with $1,100 in cash going to first place. The Thunder Bay event is limited to 15-inch and wider tracks and under 400cc engine ratings to insure widest possible competition.

The 20th annual Tip-Up Town U.S.A., one of the top 10 winter carnivals in the country, will be held Jan. 17-18 at Houghton Lake, followed by the Tip-Up Grand Prix for snowmobiles the next weekend, Jan. 24-25.

Ice, Snow Festival
The Tip-Up Town U.S.A. carnival is a fun-filled tribute to a variety of winter activities, including a Medalion hunt, parade, ice sculpturing, contests, races, carnival of fun on the ice, helicopter rides, banquet and queen's ball and coronation. There also will be additional features this year, such as acrobatic stunt flying on Jan. 17 and sky diving the following day.

Cadillac has scheduled a National Ice and Snow Festival for Jan. 10-17. The weeklong program includes dog sled races, queen's contest and dance, figure skating, sled races, torch parade, amateur snowmobile races, ice fishing, snow sculpture and skiing at all winter resorts.

The Clare County Winter Sports Carnival in Clare-Harrison-Farewell, Jan. 28-30, boasts a variety of unique activities from square dancing on the ice to winter golf played in the snow.

Alpena also will be the scene of the Northeastern Michigan Speedskating Championships, Feb. 14-15, with about 150 speedskaters expected to participate. Speedskating events have been held in Alpena for nearly 40 years.

Winter Carnival
A top event in the Upper Peninsula is the International 500 Snowmobile Classic at Sault Ste. Marie, a sanctioned race, on Feb. 7. Others include the Michigan Tech Winter Carnival at Houghton-Hancock, Feb. 5-7, and the Grand Prix Snowmobile Derby at Marquette, Feb. 13-15.

Other major Upper Peninsula snowmobile events are scheduled Jan. 9-10-11 at South Range; Jan. 31-Feb. 1 at Rapid River; Jan. 31-Feb. 1 at Iron River; Feb. 27-28 and March 1 at Munising, and March 7-8 at Manistique.

Various other smaller communities will stage races throughout the winter in the U.P.

The Traverse Winter Carnival, in and around Traverse City Feb. 20-22, calls itself a carnival that will offer everything that's fun and is done outside in winter. It includes a 250-mile sanctioned snowmobile race with $15,000 in prize money.

March events include a ski carnival at Freeland March 6, Snowmobile Championship Races at East Jordan, set tentatively for March 7-8, and the Sugarloaf Village Spring Carnival, March 13-15.

A Prayer For The New Year

Infinite God, creator and sustainer of life, tormented by the experience of living through the frantic '60s, we stand in awe before the dawning decade of the '70s. Mindful that the new year will bring both good and evil, we are fearful and anxious, realizing that we may not know the difference between the two... or may add to the sum of man's misery through lack of responsible effort and dedicated commitment to that which is good. Hear, therefore, our fervent petition that thy strength and wisdom permeate our society to the end that:

Our riotous, cynical '60s may become our orderly, appreciative '70s;

Our taunting protest and disorderly conduct of the '60s may be transformed into creative consensus and environmental restoration during the '70s;

Our overconfident arrogance and illogical extremes of the '60s may give way to true humility and a tempered reason throughout the '70s;

Our penchant for assassination, the eccentric, and the "prevaling winds of whim" during the '60s may be supplanted by non-violent due process, subdued reflection, and calculated purpose in the '70s;

Our conflict, dissatisfaction and polarization of the '60s may be resolved into harmony, contentment, and sympathetic cooperation for the '70s;

Our sought for peace and unfulfilled ideals of the '60s be found and achieved within the '70s; and

The probing of outer space in the '60s continue in the '70s and be matched by the probing of inner space that man may learn to live at peace with himself and his fellow man. Amen.

In Perspective

Each year about this time the nation's newsmen make a big fluff over the "Top 10" stories of the year. There are lists for both general news and sports and probably for other categories, also.

The voting, like wire service football and basketball polls, is on a 10 points for first place, nine points for second, etc., basis and once all the ballots are in the scores are totaled and the results announced in big, bold headlines. This year, because it's the last year of the 1960s, there are lists of "Top 10" stories of the decade.

Unfortunately, the lists tend to read sort of like a telephone book. Now there's nothing wrong with telephone books, but it doesn't seem that news stories with all of the various implications can be compiled in a 1-2-3 order. An event just doesn't happen, be reported and recorded, and disappear.

If landing man on the moon, for example, is the top story of the year or of the decade, it should be recognized that it doesn't stop there. There may be benefits to mankind for years ahead. It also should be recognized that continuing stories — the problems of population, pollution, poverty, inflation, taxes, etc. — aren't the type to be reported in the nation's press with the same vigor and bold headlines as the assassination of a president, yet in the years ahead may be the most critical stories to be told.

In the Escanaba area, for example, there have been many "big" stories which may, eventually, have greater impact on the area than many of those included in state or national lists. And while reported by the newspaper and radio and television stations locally, they do not end at that point.

Take a look at some of them, in no particular order, and at some of the questions they pose that will take years to answer:

Mead Corp. announces plan to build pulp-mill at the Escanaba Paper Co. — What effect will the increased wood needs (10 times those at present) have on the economy of the Upper Peninsula and on its wildlife? What affect will the added jobs have on the economy of the area? Will it emit unpleasant odors?

Senior Citizens apartment tower construction starts — With 176 units, how many homes will this make available in the area for younger families? Will having that number of people concentrated in one building create parking and traffic congestion in the area? Is the city adequately equipped to provide fire protection? Is there need for even more low-rent housing in the community?

City opens new airport facilities — What will this mean to the area in 10 or 20 years? Already, jet service has started and a new airline is serving the area. Will the city be able to handle the additional cost of operating the terminal or will a county or area financial base be needed?

Big Bay de Noc Teachers Strike — How will the school district, a district which not long ago was reorganized on the regional basis, react and recover from the divisive situation? Can the community unite to provide a sound education program for the children?

Snow buries area, emergency declared — What did the "hard" winter do to the deer population? If the deer herd has suffered, what impact will this have on the influx of hunters from lower Michigan each year?

Chicago & North Western starts new $16 million ore terminal in Escanaba — How will this relate to ore shipping in the Upper Peninsula? Will Escanaba take over from Marquette? How about the dust problem at the facility? Can it be satisfactorily solved? If not, what will happen to the north Escanaba residential community?

Passenger train service ends to Upper Peninsula — How will this affect transportation over the long haul?

Besides these stories there were others — highways for the Upper Peninsula; water and air pollution, both municipal and industrial; school financing, both for building and operation; community college growth; vocational-technical education; county government reorganization; a new District Court; Gladstone's new water filtration plant; delay in natural gas service for Manistique; tourism and recreational development; fishing, sports and commercial; drugs and drug abuse; population growth; a shopping center for Escanaba and its relation to the central business district. The list could go on.

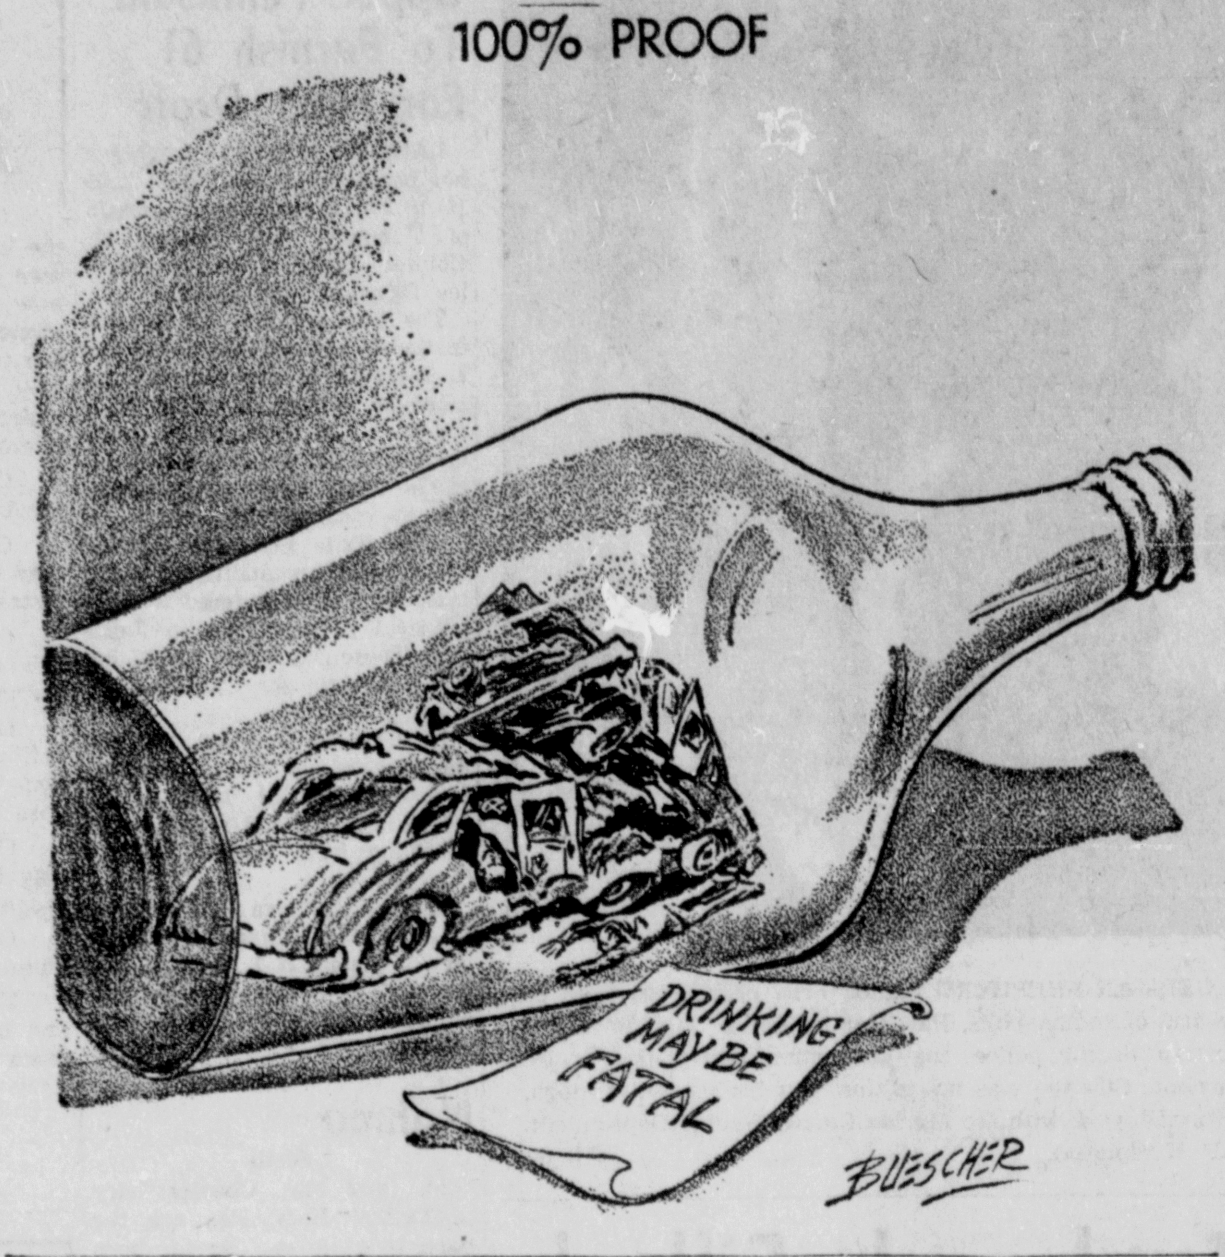

Add to these local problems the things on the state and national level which have local impact — educational reform, welfare, taxes, inflation, the Vietnam war, nuclear balance of power, disarmament, racial problems, poverty, communications, law and order, jobs and unemployment, food supply, housing, protection of natural resources and pollution and others — and the problem in determining the "Top 10" stories becomes readily apparent.

All of these stories are "big" in 1969. But most of them didn't end with the decade. They will continue into 1970 and beyond. Some will continue as long as man inhabits the earth.

This is the point. While listing the "Top 10" stories of the year or the decade may fill up news columns or take broadcast time, the long-range view must not be overlooked. If history is important, then the future is critical.

Peninsula Potpourri

Julius P. Kempke, 25, Champion, was sentenced to one year in Brown County, Wis., jail when he appeared before Circuit Court Judge William Duffy on a charge of aggravated assault. Kempke had pleaded guilty to the felony involving an attack on his mother, Mrs. Victoria Kempke in her home last June 9 which resulted in the loss of an eye by Mrs. Kempke. The defendant reportedly was intoxicated at the time. In addition to the jail term, Kempke will have to serve six months' probation, but Judge Duffy ruled he would receive credit for time served in jail since September while awaiting trial.

Northern Ireland Makes Peace Bid

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

BELFAST, Northern Ireland — Prophecy is dangerous, but it begins to look as though the extremist civil rights groups in this beleaguered part of the world have been outflanked.

The majority — meaning the Unionist Party, which stands for continued separation from the South — has simply stolen the radicals' civil rights clothes. "One man, one vote" has come to North Ireland, and even the 18-year-olds have been declared eligible to go to the polls in all future United Kingdom, State and local elections.

The civil rights have been granted their wishes, the student radicals can now support their own candidates, and even the local Catholic majority in stormy Londonderry, hitherto disfranchised on technicalities, is free at last to choose its own government.

None of this have been exactly secret, for the parliament at Stormont enacted the civil rights program some time ago, and the Queen let it become the law. But it was not generally proclaimed to the world (which has continued to think North Ireland is about to dissolve into anarchy) until the Prime Minister, Major James Dawson Chichester-Clark, took a pre-Christmas gathering of the world's press into his confidence.

To be sure, they always had "one man, one vote" in national elections. But in the votes for city councils and the like, only householders and their wives who paid the water rates and other municipal fees were allowed the ballot. (This kept a lot of the poorer young people who lived with their parents from voting.)

Now that this has been changed, what is the civil rights movement going to do for an issue? How is the volubly radical Bernadette Devlin, the 22-year-old mid-Ulster representative in the British House of Commons, to make it appear that the local police are Fascist agents of undemocratic regimes? As the majority is now saying, Ulster will soon find out how much of the civil rights movement was for civil rights, and how much of it was really for anarchy or revolution.

The reform package, as explained at a luncheon given by the Prime Minister for American visitors, includes other things that would seem to prove that the Unionist Party had moved to the center, leaving Rev. Ian Paisley, who calls himself the Moderator of the Ulster Free Presbyterian Church, dangling on the Right.

Some 1,300 families were burned out of their homes in the Londonderry riots, but a thousand of these families have been rehoused. The Londonderry Development Commission, a neutral body including Catholic Stephen McGonagle, an important trades union official with a record of pragmatic accomplishment, has promised 1,300 "units of accommodation" before the end of 1971, and 3,000 by 1972.

The job program is ambitious: the "new city" of Craig-von, which is trying to develop the amenities and services (banks, schools, shops and parks) as it progressively provides both private and public subsidized housing, has already lured the Goodyear Co. (1,650 employees) to its still empty spaces.

But the notion that mere environmental and economic upgrading can put an end to cultural and religious differences is not accepted by many in the "new" Unionist Party. There has been an Ombudsman on the job for several months, ready to listen to complaints about government services. For the "soul," there is an office of "community relations" and, to combat prejudices in hiring, there is a new discriminatory employment practices committee.

The pessimists say that all of this has come two years too late. In this view the student radicals, led by such as Bernadette Devlin, have sown the wind.

"The radicals," says a Derry cynic, "have a solution and all they have to do now is to find a problem for it"—meaning, of course, that the revolutionists

(who want an all-Ireland workers' State) will soon drum up issues that transcend both religion and civil rights.

But the optimists counter with the observation that the Catholic workers are essentially conservative, and that only a few Nationalist fanatics really want an anti-Protestant "anschluss" between South and North Ireland as long as the superior social services provided by subsidies from London guarantee the North a higher standard of living.

The optimists think areas with race and tribal problems (South Africa, Rhodesia, Nigeria, Kenya, Cyprus, the Middle East) are in far worse shape than Ulster, where Celt (Scottish) and Celt (Irish) fight an essentially cousinly war, and where the religious differences are between Christian (Catholic) and Christian (non-conformist Presbyterian). Cousins, so the optimists hope, are not doomed to hate forever. The problem is to end their suspicions.

It is not for an outsider to pontificate here. All I can say is that, in a few days in Ulster, I've talked to a lot of very reasonable people.

Business Resolutions For 1970 'Interesting'

By DON BATTLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Ask top business and consumer leaders what their 1970 New Year's resolutions are and one is liable to get some interesting answers.

"I guess I should resolve to sponsor round-table peace talks between automobile manufacturers and Ralph Nader," says Mrs. Virginia H. Knauer, chairman of President Nixon's Committee on Consumer Interests.

And from a spokesman for a major oil company, who asked not to be identified for obvious reasons:

"We resolve not to cancel the credit cards of all those congressmen who voted to cut the oil depletion allowance."

"We resolve to open a new type of super service station this year which will offer cash giveaway games for each member of the family, triple green stamps, free drinking glasses, free place mats for the kitchen,

APT PUNISHMENT

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — A 12-year-old boy, who pleaded guilty to stealing, was taken from Children's Court here by his father and spanked in a police cell.

The boy, whose name may not be reported, returned to the court with his father. Tears were streaming down the lad's face, and the father showed a reddened hand to Magistrate L. M. Wright. The charge was then dismissed.

The boy was said to have stolen purses from autos, and taken $8.30 from them.

The magistrate asked the father what he thought should be done, and the father said, "I'd like to give him a good thrashing." The magistrate then adjourned the case for a few minutes.

Magistrate Wright acted under the Social Welfare Act which permits a near relative to punish a child in a manner approved by the court.

balloons and bubble gum for the kids, modern deluxe restrooms, complete travel maps and the quickest service in town."

"Gee, that's great."

"Yes, but there's just one catch."

"What's that?"

"We don't have any room for gasoline pumps."

On a serious note, Dayton Clewell, senior vice president for research and engineering at Mobil Oil, has a resolution that involves cutting air pollution.

"I'd like to see the American motorist resolve to help us by keeping his car in first-class working order and by driving it properly. A clean, well-tuned car properly driven, cuts air pollution to half of that of a dirty car."

"We recognize that it is the oil companies who must carry the brunt of this part of the air pollution battle," Clewell says.

"But if 90 million Americans resolve to drive clean and well-tuned cars and drive sensibly it sure will help."

In the world of stocks, there are those who also are making

Rubber Carpet To Save Turkey Eggs

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Turkeys lay their eggs standing up. Chickens, who are smarter, squat.

The result: 20 to 30 per cent of eggs laid in a given turkey flock are cracked or badly damaged by the fall. Chickens don't have that problem.

Michigan State University poultry experts have designed a shock-absorbing rubber "carpet" to reduce the egg casualties and improve the turkey birth rate.

The bidding:
1♠ 2♦ Pass 5♦

Opening lead—nine of spades.

A fine declarer plays most hands as though he knows every card in each defender's hand. The knack of playing as though the cards were exposed is usually based on the many reasonable inferences that can be drawn from either the bidding or the early plays by the defense.

For example, take this hand where declarer should make five diamonds, even though he seems destined to lose a club and two hearts. South can salvage one of his losers if he plays correctly.

West leads the nine of spades in response to East's spade bid. Since the nine is obviously West's highest spade, declarer knows that East has the K-10 and he puts this knowledge to use by covering the nine with the jack. Failure to do this would cost declarer the contract.

South wins East's king with the ace, crosses to dummy with a trump, leads a spade, and finesses the eight. He then cashes the queen of spades, discarding a club from dummy, and ruffs his last spade in dummy.

Declarer now plays the king of clubs, saddling East with the lead. East is in bad shape at this point. He has no safe return to make after taking the ace of clubs.

He can return a heart to put a quick end to the hostilities, or he can alternatively lead a black suit and so permit South to discard a heart as he ruffs the return in dummy. Either way, East's goose is cooked.

South's proper course of play is marked from the start—even though he does not see the adverse hands. The opening bid tells him that East has the ace of clubs, and West's nine of spades leads tells him that East has the K-10. All that South has to do is put this information to good use.

Snitching Apple Is Stealing, Boy Learns

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from the man whose mother-in-law shop-lifted the family gifts was a stunner. Her explanation: She was brought up during the depression and nobody had any money. People stole whatever they wanted.

I, too, was raised during the depression. Our standard dinner was boiled potatoes, and gravy made with lard, flour and water. Sometimes we had homemade bread and oleo on the table.

One day I took an apple when the grocer wasn't looking. My mother noticed the bulge in my pocket when we were half way home. We turned around immediately and went straight back to the store. I asked Mom if I couldn't just put the apple back. She said, "No. You must GIVE it back and apologize."

My mother didn't call it "snitching" nor did she use any other cute word which sounded less criminal. She said, "When you take something that doesn't belong to you, it is stealing." From that day to this I have never touched anything that didn't belong to me, and I have raised my children the same way. — Remembering

Dear Re: It might interest people who grew up during the depression to know there was less stealing in those days than now — when our country is at the peak of its affluence. This raises some interesting sociological questions as to why people steal. The next letter should be of special interest to you.

Dear Ann Landers: Yesterday I was going through the pockets of my son's dungarees before tossing them into the washing machine. I came across five $100 bills. Joey is 16, a high school junior. Needless to say, I was shocked.

Instead of hitting him head-on, I decided to be casual. I told him I had washed his dungarees and they looked awfully small — as if they had shrunk. I waited for a reaction. Joey said nothing. I tried again later by suggesting that he pick up some new dungarees since his old ones are becoming awfully faded from washing. Again, no reaction.

I hesitate to press, Ann, yet I'm scared stiff the boy has done something wrong. I have no husband to turn to. How should I handle this?—P.M.N.H.

Dear P.M.N.H.: Your reluctance to hit him head-on is an indication that you are afraid to face the facts which you fear are unpleasant.

Hand Joey the money at once and tell him you found it in his pocket. Ask him where it came from. If he is in trouble, go to your clergyman for guidance and help.

Dear Ann Landers: Regarding the letter from the guy who sits in front of the idiot box every night because it's better than talking to that idiot who calls herself a wife: Who is he kidding? He sits there because he is a slob. He is too stupid to read, too inert to pursue a hobby and too lazy to exercise. The man who says "My wife and I have nothing in common" is playing the game called "If It Weren't For Her."

I'm reminded of the poem by John Markin called, "Markin" Time. I hope the Boob Tuber sees it:

"When time hangs heavy on your hands
And you do not try to advance,
Go to someone who understands,
And have him kick you in the pants." — Chicago

Mrs. Perry Bergman of Bark River has been named executive secretary of the Delta County Chapter of the American Red Cross. The decision to employ an executive secretary was made necessary because of the increasing wartime service program of the Red Cross, which will reach a peak of operations, both at home and abroad, in 1945, according to Basil O'Connor, chairman of the American Red Cross.

Lt. Dick Kamrath is leaving today for Miami Beach, following a leave spent at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kamrath, 1012 8th Ave. S.

The police are up against a mystery. They have eight quarts of perfectly good "moonshine" in their possession which they are holding for the owner. All he has to do is to call at headquarters and get it. He may be asked to describe the goods and give the name of the party from whom it was purchased, but he will get it.

The stuff has been locked in cell No. 2 and will be held pending the arrival of the owner. If he doesn't call by spring, the stuff is to be turned over to street commissioner Garrity for use in cleaning out the sewers.

Debra Jean Derusha of Rte. 1, Escanaba and Anthony Joseph Fudala of Rte. 1, Escanaba exchanged wedding vows at 11 a. m. Saturday, Dec. 27 at St. Anne's Church in Escanaba. Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Louis Cappel, assisted by Altar Boys Randy Kralovetz and Timothy LeClair. Organist and soloist for the wedding was Mrs. Mary Snyder.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Derusha of Rte. 2, Box 289, Escanaba and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fudala of Rte. 1, Escanaba.

Peau de Soie
The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white peau de soie fashioned with a scoop neckline. The bell shaped sleeves, empire bodice, and edge of skirt were trimmed with sequined Chantilly lace. The detachable chapel length train was also trimmed with the same lace.

Her headpiece was a Dior bow of matching peau de soie, applied with Chantilly lace and embroidered with loops of crystal beads secured to a triple tier elbow length veil of imported silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of miniature carnations, mums, and red roses.

Maid of honor for the bride was Dorothy Schaut of Rte. 2, Escanaba and bridesmaids were Rose Flagstad of Gladstone Rte. 1, cousin of the bride, Carol Kralovetz of Rte. 2, Escanaba, and Mrs. Lynn Fudala of Milwaukee.

Red Velvet
They were attired in burgundy red velvet gowns with red satin trim at the empire waist, neck, and hemline.

Their headpieces were white maribou fluffs with burgundy red maine veils and they carried white maribou muffs on which were pinned a corsage of holly and a red rose.

Serving as best man for his cousin was Lanny (Butch) Fudala of Milwaukee and groomsmen were Phillip Derusha, brother of the bride, Tom Wellman of Rte. 1, Bark River, cousin of the bridegroom, and Joe Karl of Rte. 2, Escanaba. Seating the guests were Herman Fillion, Escanaba, uncle of the bride, and August Fudala, the bridegroom's uncle.

Flower girl was Melody Wellman of Rte. 1, Bark River, niece of the bridegroom. She was attired identical to the bridesmaids. Garry Derusha, brother of the bride, was ring bearer for the couple.

Mothers' Attire
The mother of the bride chose for her daughter's wedding a two-piece dress-suit of silver-gray knit with metallic thread with burgundy red and black accessories.

Mrs. Fudala wore for her son's wedding a brown knit dress with beige trim and matching accessories. Both mothers were presented corsages to complement their attire.

The grandmothers, Mrs. Anna Fillion, Mrs. Linea Derusha and Mrs. Bernice Fudala were also presented corsages.

Reception
The reception was held from 5 to 8 p. m. at Teamster's Hall followed by a dance. Assisting at the reception were Loretta and Carol Delvaux, Mary Rose Flagstad, Paula Fleetwood and Cheryl Chernick.

After a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the couple will reside at Rte. 2, Box 294, Escanaba.

The bride is a senior at Escanaba Area High School and is employed by the Pioneer Motor Inn. The bridegroom is a 1966 graduate of Escanaba Area High School and is employed by Harnischfeger Corp.

A. W. Freemans Mark Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. "Archie" Freeman, 1610 16th Ave. S., are observing the 50th anniversary of their marriage today, Dec. 31. Although this is the date of the anniversary, the golden wedding celebration was held Aug. 16 and 17 so that all their children could attend.

Six Children
Their children includes four daughters: Mrs. M. W. (Ruth) Eastburn of New Jersey; Mrs. B. (Bettie) Maddox of Milwaukee; Mrs. Jerry (Kathryn) Borges, Milwaukee; and Mrs. Ronald C. (Joan) Anderson of Gladstone; two sons, Lloyd Freeman of Iron Mountain and Richard of Rte. 1 Escanaba. They also have 16 grandchildren, who were present for the occasion.

Family Dinner
The group gathered at the Dells Supper Club for dinner on Saturday, Aug. 16, and pictures were taken of the six family groups and the Freeman family. A smorgasbord dinner was enjoyed.

On Sunday, Aug. 17, the family gathered at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Joan Anderson of Gladstone for brunch, dinner games and more pictures, before some departed for their homes. Mr. Freeman was general manager of the Clairmont Transfer Co. from 1945 to 1964 and is now retired.

Much Traveling
The Freemans spent most of their winters in Florida plus other traveling throughout the United States and Canada. They departed for Florida after the deer hunting season.

Christmas Trees Have Many Uses

EAST LANSING (AP)—Don't throw away that Christmas tree! Michigan State University experts say it's still usable. Dr. Melvin Koelling, MSU extension forester, says branches of the used Christmas trees can protect other plants from "winter burn." "Woodchips from the trees can be used for mulching on evergreens and such plants as boxwood, roses and holly," Koelling adds. "When used for cover, Christmas tree branches also help to reduce desiccation (dehydration)." Michigan State uses old trees this way. Each year, the university reports, it collects unsold Christmas trees from retail lots in the Lansing area and uses them for protecting plant material on the East Lansing campus.

Total Military Victory Aim Of Hanoi Machine

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam's war machine is fully geared against South Vietnam and from all that is known Hanoi's intent is still total military victory.

As 1969 ends top-level analysis by intelligence officers indicates that troops and materials now being assembled at the borders constitute more than just a show of North Vietnamese strength.

Offensive Plans Set

Intelligence men say plans made in Hanoi last March, six months before Ho Chi Minh died, call for yet another major winter-spring offensive.

Step one has been to set up supply bases outside Vietnam. Step two has been the attempt to put supplies near future battlefields inside the country.

Step three, by the current analysis, is the infiltration of small bands of troops. Step four will be the attempt to mass into large military formations prior to a general attack.

Reds On Move

The North Vietnamese seem to be keeping to schedule even though some of the steps have fallen short because of strong allied reaction. "They are stockpiling more and they are on the move more than they ever were prior to the Tet attacks of 1968," says an American intelligence officer in the northern 1st Corps. "The amount of equipment they preposition on the battlefield will determine how large a force they can sustain."

In some places reconnaissance indicates the North Vietnamese regiments are about to take the last step of getting ready for battle.

The buildup reaches along the entire western border of Vietnam, 700 miles from the Gulf of Siam to the demilitarized zone.

Americans Worried

This threat more than anything else worries American field commanders about getting sudden orders to withdraw from Vietnam.

All American combat divisions but one are deeply involved in today's prime military mission of finding and preventing the North Vietnamese from penetrating the security shield that protects the population.

The North Vietnamese have two advantages they did not enjoy when they geared up against the American troop escalation in the mid-60s. At that time their supplies were bombed from the time they were received at the Haiphong docks. War for the soldiers began when they boarded trucks to come South.

With the U.S. bombing halt in effect since Nov. 1, 1968, war for the North Vietnamese begins now only at the western edge of the demilitarized zone when they enter Laos.

Safety In Cambodia

The second advantage is that the North Vietnamese remain invulnerable in Cambodia, which borders much of South Vietnam.

Once they kept out of sight there. Today they have openly occupied whole border districts and are seemingly oblivious to complaints from Cambodia's head of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk. At least half all war supplies are believed landed by sea in Cambodia.

Hotspots Noted

The new bases of Hanoi's forces have been built for more than one campaign, according to allied intelligence assessments. Their purpose seems to be to sustain the war for years. The intricate supply complex built into the jungles mountains along the Laotian frontier and at the western part of the DMZ may be so well fortified they could survive any conventional bombing should it be resumed.

The hotspots where action

Witnesses Will Hold Ministers' Session Jan. 2-4

Jehovah's Witnesses in this area have been invited to participate in a three-day ministers' conference to be held in Ishpeming on Jan. 2-4.

The conference is sponsored by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of Brooklyn, New York. Eighteen Upper Michigan and northeastern Wisconsin congregations have been invited.

William J. Kalandros, presiding minister of the Escanaba congregation, said the purpose of the conference is to provide specialized training in the Christian ministry.

Emphasizing the theme of the Ishpeming conference, "Right Kind of Ministers," Kalandros explained the delegates receive counsel to improve their personal ministry and individual conduct.

The conference site and principal speakers will be announced at a later date. Over 600 persons attended a similar gathering in Houghton last April.

might be expected in the next few weeks reach from the ridges of the DMZ, across the foothills of central Vietnam to the jungled war zones around Saigon and down to the tangled swamps of the U Minh forest.

According to the best information available, increased traffic has been reported north and west of the DMZ. "The area has been humming with activity since September," one observer said. Here engineers have built their largest rear supply complex and as many as a thousand trucks may be working it. Even pipelines feed into the complex.

Infiltration Plans

This base and a similar one to the southwest in Laos support 10 infantry and two artillery regiments. Some have flanked Vietnam's two northern most provinces and are deployed in the hills. Their mission would be to infiltrate these provinces, terrorize the cities of Hue and Quang Tri, attack weak outposts and raise as much havoc as possible.

The senior American officer in the northern area, Lt. Gen. Melvin Zais, is said to be concerned out not worried about plans for a winter-spring offensive. The allies claim more knowledge of enemy intentions than at any time in the past.

"We can take counteraction to all his moves," one officer said.

Probe Into Laos

U.S.-Vietnamese patrols probe into Laos. Electronic sensor nets thrown over the jungle feed in details of enemy movement. Helicopter patrols spot-check in formation.

The Americans also have confidence in local militia forces recruited from among the area's population of one million. These stand guard over the hamlets.

"The North Vietnamese have no notion that the people will this time defend themselves," an American adviser says.

DMZ Invasion Unlikely

At the DMZ the American 1st Brigade, 5th Mechanized Division and Vietnamese troops train their own—and electronic—eyes to the North. An intelligence officer says: "We do not feel that they will make a formal invasion of the DMZ. Why would they subject themselves to that publicity?"

But there remains the threat of a thrust across the Ben Hai River border by a regiment in intent on a hit-and-run attack.

Farther south, the populations of four coastal provinces are seemingly permanently threatened by the 2nd and 3rd North Vietnamese divisions that have been harassing cities and overrunning district towns since 1966.

The 3rd Division specializes in wedging itself in with the population. Recently it was moving into Binh Dinh Province, where rapid strikes have been made this year in pacification.

The U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade may face a tough winter.

The 1st Marine Division and the U.S. Army's Americal Division have their hands full keeping the North Vietnamese out of the three provinces south of Da Nang. The problems are heightened by the presence of intact local Viet Cong units among the population, such as the 48th Battalion that fights around the village of My Lai.

Then there is War Zone C.

Nowhere in the country have the North Vietnamese made more attempts to battle and had more setbacks than in the familiar battlegrounds northwest of Saigon which four divisions enter from camps in the Cambodian sanctuaries.

South Vietnamese are being worked into this grueling job, but in this area it is hard to find evidence they are anywhere near capable of handling it alone if the North Vietnamese keep up what looks like a suicidal posture.

The brigade commander says: "We are grinding them down and they are getting lower and lower." But by available reckoning there are still 6,500 guerrillas in Long An, unchanged from two years ago.

And as many Viet Cong battalions remain in Dinh Tuong Province as there were before the Americans came. The five mobile Viet Cong battalions have won most of the battles against the 7th Vietnamese Infantry Division since the U.S. 9th Division was withdrawn last summer. Half the enemy soldiers are reported to be North Vietnamese.

All over the country, intelligence reports suggest, Hanoi's troops can be expected to push harder as their supply bases improve and come into full operation.

To counter these moves American forces and some elite Vietnamese units are using sophisticated tactics and equipment that require a high degree of individual professionalism.

American field officers interviewed across the country express doubt that the Vietnamese will be ready for years to take care of their borders by themselves. Vietnamese field officers say they will do their part, but that they can't do it all.

Anti-Pollution Program Asked By Lawmaker

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-Calif., has proposed a massive 10-year program to clean up the nation's polluted air, land and water.

Clausen urged that the 1970s be proclaimed "the Environmental Quality Decade" with pollution control given highest national priority.

Clausen called on the Nixon administration to consider new methods of finance, asserting that "cleaning up the country's littered air, land and water is going to cost a lot of money."

He suggested tax incentives for pollution abatement, and establishment of a state-federal environmental quality trust fund similar to the highway construction trust fund.

But money by itself is not the entire answer, Clausen said.

"Every American must increase his personal awareness of the total problem and work diligently toward the mandatory objective of clean air, pure water and reasonable and responsible land use planning."

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, proposed Monday an independent agency to centralize federal pollution abatement efforts.

Mystery Boats Nearing Israel

HAIFA, Israel (AP) — The five mystery gunboats from France near Israel's shores today, and an oil company spokesman indicated their mission would be to supply and defend an Israeli-American oil drilling operation off the Israeli coast.

A spokesman for the Metivest Mest Co. said the speedy, 147-foot craft would arrive late in the afternoon and newsmen could question some of the officers and a company representative at a news conference.

The gunboats had been slowed by gale winds in the eastern Mediterranean, but the winds calmed at dawn.

The boats slipped out of Cherbourg harbor at 3 a.m. Christmas morning, evading the French government's embargo on arms to Israel. They were part of a flotilla of 12 built for Israel, but the other seven were delivered before the embargo was clamped on last January.

The French government said the boats had been sold to a Norwegian company for offshore oil drilling operations. It asserted the departure of the boats, manned by Israeli crews, was a complete surprise. But newsmen investigating in Cherbourg found strong indications that a number of high French officials knew in advance that the boats would be leaving and did nothing to stop them.

Authoritative political sources in Jerusalem said Foreign Minister Abba Eban told French Ambassador Francois Hure at a meeting Monday that the boats would be used for civilian purposes.

The brigade commander says: "We are grinding them down and they are getting lower and lower." But by available reckoning there are still 6,500 guerrillas in Long An, unchanged from two years ago.

Police Wound Student After Wild Car Ride

ANN ARBOR (AP) — An Ann Arbor man was shot in the head and seriously wounded Tuesday after a high-speed chase with police through the city, according to Ann Arbor Deputy Police Chief Harold E. Olsen.

Olsen identified him as Marshall Edward Amerman, 44, a graduate student and parttime janitor at the University of Michigan.

Olsen said that at least six police cars were involved in the pursuit that reached speeds between 80 and 100 miles per hour.

Olsen said the chase began about 11 a.m. when a car failed to stop for police after making an improper left turn.

The chase lasted about 20 minutes and wound through eight miles of city streets, according to Olsen. He said at one point, the fleeing car jumped a curb and nearly struck a group of pedestrians.

An Ann Arbor police patrolman fired four shots from a .38-caliber revolver at the rear windshield of the car at North University Avenue and Fletcher street at the University of Michigan campus, Olsen said.

He said one bullet and possibly bits of chrome struck Amerman in the back of the head. The car went out of control after the shooting and struck two parked cars before coming to rest, Olsen said.

He added that there were a minimum number of students on the campus because of the holidays.

Amerman underwent surgery in the University of Michigan Hospital and was reported in serious condition.

Olsen said the Ann Arbor city attorney's office and the Washtenaw county prosecutor are investigating the case.

Snowmobiler Dies Following Mishap; 3rd In Four Days

Sault Ste. Marie — A third death resulting from snowmobile accidents within four days occurred here Monday night when a 30-year-old man died in Soo General Hospital from severe head injuries he suffered in an accident Christmas Eve.

Wesley Alton, 30, was a passenger on a snow machine being driven by Charles Collins, 22, when Collins' machine apparently went out of control after hitting a snowbank and Alton was thrown off, hitting his head against a fence post.

The earlier deaths were two women who were killed in a snowmobile-car accident which took place Friday.

Escanaba police have issued traffic court notices to James M. Potenhauer, 1302 N. 19th St., improper backing; and to Donald L. Fehrenbach, Escanaba, Rte. 1, altered driving license.

State Police from the Gladstone Post issued traffic citations Tuesday to Bonita J. Larson, Rte. 1, Rapid River, failed to yield right of way; and Harold M. Hilling, Rock, no operator's license.

Michael J. Pryal, 16, of 322 S. 9th St. suffered a fractured left arm on Dec. 26 in an accident on private property. City police learned Tuesday.

The youth was standing on a truck driven by Richard Savard, 2204 26th Ave. S., when his arm caught between the truck and the doorway of a garage at Johnson Distributing Co., 429 S. 10th St.

GM Planning Big Cutbacks In Production

DETROIT (AP) — With General Motors Corp. reportedly planning to chop 50,000 cars off its original first-quarter production schedule, Ward's Automotive Reports is forecasting January production of 677,000 cars, against 846,000 built last January.

The industry originally had planned on January production of 720,000 cars — 43,000 more than now anticipated.

A sag in late 1968 sales brought about cutbacks.

Ward's, an industry statistical service, previously reported Chrysler Corp. planned to cut back its first-quarter schedule by 41,000 cars.

Production for the quarter is expected to total between 1.8 million and 1.9 million units.

Chrysler announced Monday all eight of its assembly plants will be closed for one week in January, with 37,700 employees to be laid off.

Usually reliable sources forecast Ford will build 180,000 cars next month, compared with 200,000 last January, a drop of 20,000.

With dealer inventories at 1.4 million, December sales were less than expected and downward production adjustments made during the month are expected to result in production of only 612,000 units, the lowest for December since 1960.

The production of 677,000 for January would make it the lowest for that month since 628,227 cars were built in January of 1962, according to Ward's.

Most automakers review production schedules early in the month and additionally review them every 10 days, thus the numbers now scheduled for January and the first quarter could shift still further — up or down.

Ward's said December's 612,000 brought 1968 production by U.S. plants to 8,220,000, compared with 8,843,031 in 1968, making 1969 the fourth best year in history.

Copper Prices Swing Upward

NEW YORK (AP) — Phelps Dodge Corp., one of the nation's largest producers of copper, Tuesday raised its base domestic copper price by 4 cents to 56 cents a pound, effective Jan. 1.

The move followed a 4-cent increase earlier in the day by a smaller producer—Copper Range Co.—to 60 cents a pound.

The hikes will automatically mean an increase in American Smelting & Refining Co.'s base price. An ASARCO spokesman said the company bases its prices on a weekly average published in Metals Week, a trade magazine.

A spokesman for the publication said the average—which has been about 52 cents—will rise as a result of the hikes, but declined to say by how much.

Other major producers, Anaconda Co. and Kennecott Copper Corp., declined comment on the possibility of increasing their prices.

The Phelps Dodge Copper Products Corp., a manufacturing subsidiary of Phelps Dodge Corp., also increased its base prices on all bare wire products by 2.8 cents a pound and its drawn copper, square and rectangular wire by 4 cents a pound, the company announced.

The upward move by Copper Range and Phelps Dodge in the base domestic copper prices were "adjustments" to bring prices into line with the 75 to 76 cents a pound being charged by foreign and secondary copper producers, spokesmen for both companies said in separate interviews.

New Year's Eve Parties Planned

Hats, horns and "noisemakers for all" is the message for those who plan on ringing out the old and ringing in the new year tonight.

Supper clubs, bars, and a number of dining establishments in the area are offering special entertainment this New Year's Eve; while other partying in celebration of the advent of 1970 will be held in private homes.

The fun will reach its climax at midnight with the traditional "Auld Lang Syne" and the drinking of a toast to old friends and the New Year.

Around the Escanaba area tonight it will be formal fun and a dinner dance at the House of Ludington to the music of the Chet Marrier Trio; at the Terrace there's a New Year's Eve Ball and at the Dells Supper Club there will be dining and dancing.

Among the many night spots listing special music for the evening are Lombardi's with "Wally and His Music Makers," the Buck Inn with the "Country Gentlemen," Arcadia Inn and the "Tom Cats," the Lincoln House is featuring "The Swingers" and the Swallow Inn at Rapid River has the "Mel-O-Notes." The Ford River Lions Club is sponsoring a public party tonight with food and dancing. Skinny's Bar and the Peoples Hotel are also on the list for celebrants.

Under state regulations, licensed drinking establishments will be allowed to be open two hours later than usual this New Year's.

Usual closing hours calls for serving to stop at 2 a. m. and the patrons to be out at 2:30, but tomorrow morning the special hours are 4 and 4:30 a. m.

There are no special patrols or other traffic law enforcement activities planned for tonight by State Police, or sheriff's offices. In Escanaba one additional patrol car will be on until 4 a. m.

The usual warnings have been issued, however, about the dangers of drinking and driving. The emphasis is on having a sober good time, taking a cup of coffee for the road, and calling a cab for transportation if you've had one too many—highballs, that is.

The annual orgy of parades and football on television moves into high gear tonight with the Orange Bowl parade from Miami, Fla., and the Bluebonnet Bowl football game matching Auburn and Houston in the AstroDome at Houston, Tex. The Peach Bowl at Atlanta, Ga., won by West Virginia started the week's bowl coverage Tuesday night.

New Years Day will bring the Tournament of Roses parade from Pasadena, Calif., and the Cotton Bowl Parade from Dallas, Tex., in advance of nine consecutive hours of college football. Notre Dame and Texas clash in the Cotton Bowl and Arkansas

Esky Matmen Win Tourney

BY MIKE UTT

GLADSTONE — Coach Norm Panganis' Escanaba Eskymo wrestling squad showed plenty of overall team strength and captured top honors in the First Annual Delta County Holiday Wrestling Tournament at the Gladstone High School gymnasium Tuesday night.

The Eskymos picked up six individual champions in the meet and piled up 80 points to easily outdistance Gladstone, which had 40 points, and Holy Name, which came in with 34 points.

Eskymo matmen winning individual titles were Rich Stropich, 98 pounds; Mike Blazek, 105 pounds; Dale Ford, 123 pounds; Neil VanDrese, 155 pounds; Terry Scheenemen, 175 pounds; and Duane Scheuren, 185 pounds.

Other individual champions crowned were Gary Allsworth of Gladstone, 115 pounds; Rich DeMay of Gladstone, 130 pounds; Bill Beauvais of Holy Name, 145 pounds; Jim DeGrand of Holy Name, 165 pounds; and Bob DeGrand of Gladstone, heavyweight. No champion was crowned in the 137-pound weight class as John DeGrand of Holy Name and Mike Makosky of Escanaba finished in a draw in the title match.

The wrestlers competed in 3 separate rounds and each individual grappler competed with the wrestler in his weight class from the other schools. At the end of the first round, Escanaba led with 36 points, Gladstone had 10 and Holy Name 6. Following completion of the second round, Escanaba had piled up 55 points while Gladstone had 23 and Holy Name 20.

Escanaba's victory entitled them to receive the Escanaba Daily Press traveling trophy for this year. Each individual champion will also receive a medal, which will be provided by Gladstone High School. Neither the trophy or the medals were available at last night's event and will be awarded at a later date.

Next year's tournament will be staged at Escanaba High School and the 1971 event will take place at Holy Name.

Big Bowl Week Underway; West Virginia Triumphs

By The Associated Press

What are you doing New Year's Eve?

Two sophomore quarterbacks who didn't figure on starting this season plan to light up the Astro-dome's $2-million scoreboard when Auburn meets Houston tonight in the 11th Astro-Bluebonnet bowl.

It figures to be a 10-touchdown game with Pat Sullivan of Auburn and Gary "Moon" Mullins of the host Cougars leading the way.

Both teams are high-scoring college football powers with 8-2 records and can explode on the ground and through the air. Houston, ranked No. 19, has rolled up an average of 38.6 points a game this season; 12th-ranked Auburn 36.3.

Touching off this long week of football activity Tuesday night was the second Peach Bowl in Atlanta where another sophomore, Eddie Williams, pounded out the yardage to lead West Virginia 14-3 victory over South Carolina.

Bob Gresham scored for the Mountaineers on a 10-yard run in the first period and Jim Braxton got the clincher on a one-yard run with only 25 seconds remaining in the rain-soaked contest played before 48,342. Billy DuPre's 37-yard field goal put the Gamecocks on the scoreboard in the second period.

But it was Williams who was named the game's most valuable offensive player. He carried 35 times for 206 yards.

The first major contest to get going on New Year's Day is the Sugar Bowl between third-ranked Arkansas and 13th-rated Mississippi. The favored Razorbacks present a 9-1 record, losing only to Texas in the regular season finale, a balanced offense and the nation's stingiest defense against scoring.

The Ole Miss offense revolves around Archie Manning, a spectacular junior quarterback who engineered big victories over LSU, Tennessee and Georgia this season. Mississippi finished with a 1-3 mark.

Texas takes on Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl. In their first bowl appearance in 45 years the Fighting Irish will have to stop the Longhorns' powerful ground game, led by quarterback James Street.

Texas, winner of all ten starts, faces Irish front lines that outweigh the Longhorns' almost 20 pounds a man. Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian, whose team compiled an 8-1-1 mark, promised that it will be "a hittin' football game."

In the Rose, oldest bowl of them all, both clubs present solid running and passing quarterbacks. Sophomore Jimmy Jones guides fifth-ranked Southern California, 9-0-1, against seventh-ranked Michigan, 8-2, paced by junior QB Don Moorhead who helped the Wolverines knock off Ohio State this season.

Moorhead made good on 50 per cent of his pass attempts this season as well as carrying the ball more often than any other Wolverine. He tossed for five touchdowns and scored nine times.

Jones scored three touchdowns and passed for 12 TDs. Southern Cal's attack also features tailback Clarence Davis, who piled up 1,275 yards in 282 carries and nine touchdowns.

If Notre Dame knocks off Texas, emotion will be running high at the Orange Bowl where second-ranked Penn State tackles sixth-ranked Missouri. The Nittany Lions have enough going as is being the underdog and striving to extend their 29-game unbeaten string.

Many Sports Memories Produced During 1969

By MIKE UTT

Sports memories live on and on in the minds of sports fans and they are relived time and time again in many different situations. The year 1969 produced some highlights in the Escanaba area which will be argued over and discussed for many years to come.

The big year started off with Ken Smith rolling the first 300 game in the city of Escanaba since Leonard "Gump" Olson did it in 1941.

Snowmobile races were the big thing during February with the First Annual Rapid River Snowmobile Races and the International Gold Cup Races at Gladstone. Don Bugay of Gladstone captured the $300 grand prize money at Rapid River and five drivers split the $1,000 prize at Gladstone after finishing in a tie for first place.

Basketball History

February was also basketball season and Bay de Noc Community College closed its initial season of intercollegiate competition on Feb. 13 with a 1-11 record. A basketball milestone was also reached at Gladstone High School on Feb. 23 when Steve Nelson became the first player in the school's history to score over 1,000 points in a career with a 28-point performance against Newberry. Nelson finished the regular season with 1,022 points.

During March, Gladstone, Perkins and Powers-Spalding won district basketball titles and Escanaba won its sixth U. P. Class A crown. Escanaba lost its first game in regional play downstate while Class B Gladstone and Class D Powers-Spalding were eliminated in regional finals. Perkins made it through its Class D regional tournament but was eliminated in the quarterfinals.

Gladstone's loss in regional play was one of the most exciting games of the year, as they fell to Menominee 64-62 in five overtimes. In addition to Escanaba's Class A championship in the U. P. Menominee won the Class B crown; Houghton, Class C and Marquette Bishop Baraga, Class D Bishop Baraga went on to take the State Class D title with a 68-53 victory over Detroit St. Martin in the Class D finals.

Players Honored

Following tournament play, five local players were honored with berths on the All-U. P. teams. John Moberg and Tom Kangas of Escanaba were named to the Class A team; Steve Nelson of Gladstone and Terry Dufour were selected for Class B and Bill Hartman of Big Bay de Noc made it in Class D.

The Escanaba Eskymo wrestling team finished in a three-way tie for first place in the Great Northern Conference meet with Iron Mountain and Kingsford, but lost the U. P. title to Marquette in the finals at Kingsford on March 2.

Coaching changes at the local schools made the news in April. Bill Wood and Bill Howes resigned basketball coaching jobs at Gladstone and Escanaba High Schools respectively while Norman Jahn was named basketball coach at Manistique. Later in the month, Bob Thibault filled Howes' job at Escanaba High School and Doug Boyin was named to replace Tom O'Neill as head football coach at Holy Name High School. O'Neill left Escanaba for a football post in Miami, Fla.

Lighted Field

It was also in April that the Board of Education gave the Athletic Field Improvement Committee the green light to begin a drive to light the Escanaba Athletic Field, a dream that was made true on Sept. 5 when the Escanaba Eskymos defeated Menominee 22-8 in the first game played under the lights at the Athletic Field in the 72-year history of the school.

May brought some more coaching changes as Gordon LeDuc, the coach of the State Class D champion Marquette Bishop Baraga team, replaced John Butryniewicz as basketball coach at Holy Name. Butryniewicz, who had been at Holy Name for nine years, later accepted the basketball job at Bark River-Harris.

Also announcing his retirement from the coaching world during May was Jack Magnuson, who had been the golf coach at Escanaba for 20 years.

Gladstone's track team won conference and regional track meets before capturing the U. P. Class A-B crown on May 24 and Steve Fisher of Holy Name won his third straight U. P. singles title in tennis on May 31.

Summer Fun

The summer months were filled with stock car racing, golf, baseball and softball. Ken Hruska and Paul Specker started the golf season off in June with a victory in the Third Annual Gladstone Best - Ball Tournament. Tournaments in July found Jack Smith of the Highland Golf Club winning his third straight Nahnna Open title and Billy Smith of Sault Ste. Marie capturing first place in Highland Open.

On the diamonds in July, Wisconsin National Life of Ne-gaunee successfully defended its title in the Escanaba Invitational Softball Tournament with a 10-5 victory over the Escanaba Merchants and the Escanaba Cubs lost their first baseball championship after 14 years of domination with a 4-3 loss to Menominee in the District Finals at the Al Nece Field.

In August and the early part of September golf club championships were at stake. Women's crowns went to Carolyn Nelson at the Highland, Chris Barron at the Escanaba Country Club and Bev Farrell at Gladstone. Men's titles were won by Dave Andrews at the Escanaba Country Club, Bill Wood at Gladstone and Jerry Martin at the Highland. Harold VanEffen of the Escanaba Country Club later won the annual Tri-Club tourney at the Highland Golf Club with a victory over Dave Friets and Dave Andrews in a sudden-death playoff.

Streaks Ends

September also saw the end of one of the longest football winning strings in the U. P. On Sept. 19, the Kingsford Flivvers put an end to the Escanaba Eskymos' 23-game unbeaten streak with an 18-0 victory. The string started in October 1966.

Don Pfenhauer, head football coach at Gladstone High School for 21 years, announced his resignation before the Braves' last game of the season and he was succeeded by Bob Richards. In his 21 years of coaching, Pfenhauer only had three losing seasons and his last team had a 6-1-1 record and won the Great Lakes Conference title.

The 1969 football season came to a close in the Escanaba area on Oct. 27 when Escanaba defeated Holy Name 18-12 for the fifth straight time and received the Escanaba Daily Press Trophy.

Football honors were awarded in November and Don Pfenhauer was named Coach of the Year by the U. P. Sports-writers Association and his son, Tom, received Lineman of the Year honors. Local stars making the All-U. P. team were Mark Johnson and Dan Young of Holy Name, Cliff Young and Tom Pfenhauer of Gladstone and Tom Kangas and Gene Timmer of Escanaba. Pfenhauer later received All-State honors as a guard on many teams.

Bowlers started making the news in the final three months of the year, but one in particular stands out above all the rest. Red Holmes enjoyed the finest bowling of his life including scores of 750 and 737.

The area was also visited by national sports figures during 1969. Included in the list are famed sports commentator Jack Drees, Chicago Bear linebacker Dick Butkus, slugging Washington Senator outfielder Frank Howard, former University of Michigan football coach Bump Elliott, former All-American football player Buck Nystrom and Vince Desmond, Special Events Director of the Detroit Tigers.

Yes, 1969 was filled with many sports memories, but an attempt to hit every sporting event in the Escanaba area would be almost impossible and space on the sports page does not permit such a venture at this time. We have attempted to give you some kind of background from 1969 and hope it will help you in your sports discussions.

Northern Wins Tourney Opener

EAU CLAIRE, Wis. (AP) — Ted Rose had 18 points and Hugh Friday 16 as Northern Michigan outdistanced Lincoln, 91-71, Tuesday night in the first round of the Eau Claire Holiday Tournament.

In another basketball game, Eau Claire routed Augsburg, 85-70.

Northern Michigan took a 38-23 halftime lead and then romped to its fourth victory against seven defeats this season. The winners meet tonight in the championship with the losers colliding for the consolation honors.

Maravich Builds Big Point Lead

NEW YORK (AP) — Pistol Pete Maravich increased his huge lead in the major college basketball scoring race, according to statistics released by the National Collegiate Sports Services today.

Maravich of Louisiana State, boasts a 47.3 average; Notre Dame's Austin Carr trailing in the second spot at 34.5. Figures are through last Saturday's games.

Big Bob Lanier, the 6-foot-10, 250-pound giant from St. Bonaventure, is the only major collegian to be ranked in the Top Ten in three categories.

Lanier is No. 5 in field goal percentage at .632, No. 9 in rebounding, 17.4 and tied for eighth in scoring with a 30.6 average.

Baylor's Bill Chatmon is tops in field goal percentage with a .667 average, Artis Gilmore of Jacksonville leads in rebounding at 25.4 and Steve Kaplan of Rutgers is the free throw leader with a perfect 30 of 30.

Lanier, Bonnies Bombard Purdue For Tourney Title

By The Associated Press

That mountain of a man, St. Bonaventure's Bob Lanier, is still looking for someone to cut him down to size. At 6-foot-10, 270 pounds, it may not come until he turns pro next season.

Big Bob came through with the top individual performance as the annual holiday college basketball tournaments came to a close Tuesday night. His 30 points powered the Bonnies to Olean, N.Y. to a 119-75 victory over Purdue for the Holiday Festival championship in New York.

The victory ran the 12th-ranked Bonnies unbeaten string to seven games. Purdue, 7-3, is ranked No. 17.

Third-ranked South Carolina, led by John Roche's clutch foul shooting and Tom Riker's 36 points, downed Notre Dame 84-83 in overtime for the Sugar Bowl title at New Orleans. Austin Carr hit 43 for the 13th-ranked Irish.

North Carolina, No. 4, captured the Carolina Classic by tripping Bowling Green, 89-72, behind Charley Scott's 27 points. Davidson thumped Syracuse 106-81 for the Charlotte Invitational crown as sophomore Brian Adrian led the way with 32 points.

Purdue Coach George King called Lanier the best big man in the country. "As a player he does some things Lew Alcindor didn't do," he said. Lanier completely overshadowed the Boll-weaver's All-American Rick Mount, who was held to 19 points by the Bonnies' tight zone defense.

Lanier hit 18 of 22 shots from the field, including 18 straight points in the first half. He also grabbed 15 rebounds.

Unbeaten but unranked Niagara, even without Calvin Murphy for 16 minutes of the second half, took the All-College championship by downing host Oklahoma City 87-75. Murphy, 5-

Black Bears Top Pickford

NAHMA — Run, run, run, was the name of the game between Big Bay de Noc and Pickford Tuesday night and the Big Bay cagers used the fast break to their advantage in picking up a 95-64 victory, their fourth straight this season.

The Black Bears jumped out to a 30-10 lead at the end of the first quarter and were never in trouble from that point, outscoring their opponents in every succeeding quarter. Big Bay shot 41 per cent from the field, canning 38 of 93 field goal attempts.

Bill Tartman led five Big Bay players in double figures with 28 points on 11 field goals and six free throws. John Lewandowski followed with 24 points while Dave Hardwick had 15 and Kim Hartman and Herb Pomeroy chipped in with 12 apiece. Lewandowski also had 23 rebounds to help get the fast break going.

The Black Bears get back into action next week in a pair of home appearances against Bark River on Jan. 6 and Rock on Jan. 9.

Comets, Eagles To Play Finale

EBEN — The Trenary Comets and Eben Eagles advanced to the finals of Central League Holiday Tournament by notching victories over Rock and Bark River respectively in last night's action at the Eben High School gym.

The tournament will continue on Friday evening with games between Perkins and Rock at 7 and Rapid River and Bark will meet again Saturday at 7 p.m. and Eben and Trenary will clash in the finals at 8:30.

Eben used good defense in the second period to jump ahead of Bark River 37-19 at halftime. The Eagles only allowed the Broncos 12 shots in the quarter and gave up just six points. The Broncos outscored Eben in the final two quarters, but they were unable to overcome the big point spread and lost 60-48.

Leo Niemi led a balanced attack with 16 points while Alex Freberg chipped in with 13 and Joe Goin 10. Alex Jarsz was the only Bark River player in double figures with 14 points.

The Rock Little Giants scored more points in the first quarter than they did in the rest of the game and dropped a 48-43 decision to Trenary.

Rock led at halftime by a 29-18 margin but were outscored by the Comets 30-14 in the final two quarters.

Dave Marlin paced the Comets in the scoring column with 13 points and Tom Lippens took game honors with 16 points for Rock.

Bucks Triumph Against Bullets

By The Associated Press

How do you stop speeding Bullets? It's easy—just have Lew Alcindor and Flynn Robinson around.

The two teamed up to lead Milwaukee to a 126-124 victory over Baltimore Tuesday night that vaulted the Bucks into second place, a half-game ahead of the Bullets in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division.

However, New York's Knicks kept 7½ games ahead of Milwaukee by trouncing Chicago 116-96 in an afternoon game. In other games, Cincinnati stopped San Diego 125-120. San Francisco beat Los Angeles 105-100 and Seattle whipped Phoenix 134-121.

In the American Basketball Association, the New York Nets whipped New Orleans 110-102, Pittsburgh checked Carolina 97-89, Kentucky turned back Washington 139-127, Indiana topped Miami 118-109 and Denver beat Los Angeles 123-116.

Milwaukee took advantage of Alcindor's shooting and missed Baltimore shots to break open a tight game in the third quarter and ease to its ninth victory in 10 games.

The 7-foot-2 rookie contributed 25 points in addition to pulling in 20 rebounds, while Robinson had 35 points.

The Bucks grabbed an early lead, but Earl Monroe, who scored 30, led a Bullet rally that enabled them to tie 88-88 in the third quarter.

But then Alcindor and Robinson went to work and spirited the Bucks to a comfortable command. The Bullets rallied late in the game, but ran out of time as Wes Unzder—who scored 29—hit at the buzzer for the final two-point gap.

Willis Reed scored 13 of his 25 points in the first half as the Knicks rang up a 61-45 lead, then coasted the rest of the way past the Bulls.

Reed, who also had 11 rebounds and five assists in the first half, had three three-point plays in the opening period, including one in a string of 12 straight points that gave New York a 19-6 command.

Walt Frazier added 21 points as the Knicks won their sixth in seven games. Chet Walker had 19 for Chicago, which lost its fourth straight.

Tom Van Arsdale, just off the injured list, drilled home 29 points to power Cincinnati to its fourth straight conquest.

Oscar Robertson's three straight foul shots put the Royals ahead 79-76 in the third quarter and Cincinnati was never headed after that.

Elvin Hayes led the Rockets with 31 points.

Nate Thurmond scored 29 points and Jeff Mullins had 28 in leading the Warriors from a nine-point deficit after the third quarter to their victory over the Lakers.

Mailboxes In Area Damaged, Police Claim

District Court

A Germfask youth, 17-year-old Lawrence D. Vanatta, was ticketed for violation of the basic speed law and failure to stop and identify after a property damage accident, State Police said.

Vanatta allegedly struck a parked car owned by Helen Bennett of Gulliver on an unnamed county road, south of County Road 433 in Doyle Township, at 11:30 p.m. on Dec. 28.

Ten residents on the State Road have reported damage to their mailboxes, State Police said. Either the flags have been removed or the boxes torn from the posts. The destructive acts were probably committed on Dec. 28, police believe.

Several windows in a house-trailer owned by Wallace Henry of Troy, and located on County Rd. 433 in Manistique Township, are reported broken. The trailer is unoccupied, troopers said.

Henry J. Baker, 69, 703 Garden Ave., was ticketed by Public Safety officers for failure to yield right-of-way after his car struck an automobile driven by Paul P. Sablack, Rte. 1, at the Garden Ave.-U.S. 2 intersection at 10:45 a.m. Monday.

An automobile driven by Gilbert A. Berwin, 719 Arbutus Ave., backed into a parked car owned by Mary Jo Smith, Rte. 1, at 12:05 Monday afternoon in the Manistique Tool and Die Company parking lot, city officers said. No tickets were issued.

Another Warning Issued To Drivers Of Snowmachines

Snowmachine operators are reminded that they may run their machines only in authorized areas.

According to Magistrate Howard Magoon of the District Court, "authorized areas" include state property, designated snowmachine trails, such as the Haywire-M&S Trail, one's own property and other private property with the owner's permission.

Snowmachines may not be operated on public highways or city streets, Magoon pointed out. The law is very clear on this point and violation citations are being issued by the police.

Events

Holiday Party
The board of the Women's Auxiliary of Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital hosted a holiday party for patients in the Medical Care Facility Saturday afternoon.

Games were played and prizes awarded. In addition, each patient received a gift from the auxiliary.

Dietmar Krumrey, 21, Rte. 1, was freed on $100 bond Tuesday morning and will reappear Jan. 5 before Judge Charles A. Stark for arraignment on an assault and battery charge. The complaint was brought by William Young, 21, New Orleans, La., who said the alleged offense took place in the yard of a private home on N. Third St. at 10:15 Monday night. Young was treated for cuts and bruises at the hospital, Public Safety officers said.

Edward D. Leonard Jr., Rte. 1, paid a fine of $30 and costs of $70 for reckless driving. Bernard W. Conlon, Ypsilanti, paid a fine of $20 and costs of $30 for driving with a revoked license and a $15 fine and costs of $15 for speeding.

Paul D. Wood, 803 Range St., paid a fine of $20 and costs of $40 for failure to stop and identify following a property damage accident.

Francis J. Kasun Jr., 209 N. Cedar St., paid $10 and $10 for no insurance proof and $5 and $5 for excessive noise.

Paying fines and costs for speeding were Sandra J. Pogue, Kalamazoo, $15 and $15; Kenneth M. Olson, Bloomfield Hills, $15 and $10; Leonard Kwiatkowski, Dearborn Hts., $10 and $10; Donald Moul, Comstock Park; James A. Stanchina, Detroit; David Amo, St. Ignace; Jerrold R. Hall, Traverse City each $10 and $8. Edward D. Lancour, Gulliver, $5 and $5.

Other cases: Michael K. Hopkins, Gladwin, no valid insurance, $15 and $10; Gary L. Holmes, Germfask, no insurance proof, $15 and $10; William P. Demars, Ypsilanti, violation of the basic speed law, $10 and $10; Lawrence R. Hatch, Ann Arbor, driving left of center line, $10 and $8; Earl Ansell, Garden, excessive noise, $10 and $8; Elma DeRousha, 315 Oak St., illegal operation of snowmachine, $10 and $8; Henry J. Baker, 703 Garden Ave., failure to yield right-of-way, $10 and $8; Linda L. Shaffer, Rte. 1, violation of basic speed law, $5 and $5; Roger D. Dixon, 414 N. Houghton Ave., violation of basic speed law, $5 and $5; Helmer Norbotten, 415 Steuben Ave., driving left of center line, $5 and $5; Michael Patrick Quinn, Gladstone, defective brakes, $5 and $5.

Winter In The Woods... Snow, Quiet And Books

BY JEAN WORTH
Of Panax Newspapers
So many persons have said "It's too bad that our visitors never get to know the Upper Peninsula really" that maybe we should do something about it.

On the other side of the same coin of the Upper Peninsula is an inscription: "If you're going to live in it, why don't you enjoy it?"

And, of course, that means to use it. And to use it in the winter time, especially, because there is so much of wintertime up here.

The snowmobiles are changing that, but they change it in a rather superficial way, skimming through unfamiliar scenes in a heek of a hurry with the snow spouting out behind like a rooster tail from a hydroplane.

"Special Blue Sky"
U.P. outcasts have known about the delights of winter here for generations, of course, but only recently have many visitors offered themselves as converts. I took my daughter, Ann, a student, into the Meenominie State Forest in the holidays and found her much changed from the days when I offered to tell her the difference between a spruce and balsam and she said: "Oh, Daddy, let's not with the primer."

"There's a special blue in the winter sky here that's hard to capture in pigment," I suggested. "It's quite lively — for blue — and sort of out of character in such a somber scene."

"It's because of the angle of the sun," she suggested. And she explained that in the winter here it's slanting across the landscape and not beaming down from above and this gives coloration special values.

Second Grade Class
It reminded me of the time when, as a high school student, she told me that my car had second grade safety glass. I asked her how she knew (seeing that I didn't) and she explained that they had learned all about it in driver training.

Hospital

Admitted to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital Monday were Mary Lou Gierke, Rose Christenson, Pauline Marquette, Robert Leveille and Robert Welters.

Discharged were Daryl Browning, Margaret Lester, Kent Johnson, Carol Anderson and baby, John Tanguay, William Anthony, Betty Decent, Louise Smith, Thelma Bousha and baby.

Obituary

MRS. JOHN HETTEL
Funeral services for Mrs. John (Betty) Hettel, 51, will be held Friday at 10 a.m. from the St. Francis de Sales Church. Burial will be in the Fairview Cemetery in the spring.

Mrs. Hettel, a second grade teacher at the Doyle School, died suddenly Monday afternoon at her Gulliver home.

So I didn't pursue the winter sky inquiry for fear that she had been studying celestial navigation or some other oddment with which I could not cope.

At Cedar River we turned off the highway and went up a logging road which the trucks had made passable for automobiles. The road was as straight as a half bowstring, which is very unusual in the Cedar River country, where, as in so much of the Upper Peninsula, old trails have been widened and graveled and turned into winding roads. This was the beginning of the Crawford Co.'s steam hauler "railroad" right-of-way of the very early 1900's. It had been run by compass course through a flatland for ice road travel and later converted to wheel traffic.

Parrett Country
When we crossed Elwood Creek I told Ann "We're in Parrett Country." Pat Geist used to say "There are more Parretts than maple leaves." An exaggeration, of course, but still there were a slew of them. I had in mind only Bill, Alfie, Ed and Jim Parrett of the older generation, who composed the Parrett Orchestra which played for the local dances. They were such great music makers that when there were no dances they gathered at Jim's house for a progenitor of the jam session. The floor was reinforced with a cedar post where Jim stomped his foot to keep time.

The Parretts had a beaver farm on Elwood Creek until a dynamiter blew out the dam. It wasn't a money maker, but it sure was a conversation piece. The road almost ends at Lester Rasmussen's and we stopped there to inquire about travel beyond. Rass is a trapper who runs a help-yourself boat livery at Cedar River in the summer and who serves as a ranger in John W. Wells State Park and who guides hunters in the fall.

Miles From Neighbor
He lives alone, miles from his nearest neighbor, and, in a world increasingly gregarious, he seems to like it and thrive on it. A lot of people live alone, but not in Rass' freedom from elbow touching. On a winter visit to his cabin a few years previous he had insisted upon showing me some local wonder and we set out in his Model A Ford and got hopelessly stuck in deep snow and he said casually "We'll hike it and I'll get the car in the spring."

He has a pickup truck with snow tires now, and a snowmobile, but his readiness to sit out a snowstorm — or a winter — is more impressive than his panzers. Part of his November buck was hanging from a tree — a self-serve butcher shop — but in his cabin I didn't see the long shelves of paperbacks and I asked about them.

Reads At 3 A.M.
"With hunting out of the way," said Rass "I'm starting my winter reading."

"Does it keep you up late?" I asked.

"I'm in bed by 7," said Rass. "I get up at 2:30 and have breakfast at 3 and then I start my reading."

He shuffled a magazine of its wrapper and handed it to me. "Do you get this?" he asked. It was the Nature magazine of the Audubon Society. "Beautiful deer pictures in the last issue," he said and added "There are deer jumping all over the woods just north of here."

"Many coyotes?" I asked.

"Enough," he said. "I killed one with my truck this fall."

We went on, following truck tracks in the snow in a labyrinth of logging roads, and I said to Ann: "There aren't any hermits any more, but if there were Rass would be one. He was born about two generations too late to make it. North Central flies over this area on the way to Escanaba and Marquette and you can't pretend with even aerial intrusion. But after a month here alone you might be talking to yourself."

"What next?" said Ann, "a hermit with paperbacks."

FEWER COFFEE BREAKS

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) —

Finance Commissioner Albert Christen has solved the problem of too many early morning coffee breaks by state employees. He ordered all state cafeterias closed from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m. daily.

BU PRANG BATTERING — A massive cloud of smoke billows up from enemy artillery explosions at Bu Prang, the besieged outpost near the Cambodian border of South Vietnam.

NOTICE

I will be at the Kipling Hall to collect taxes January 3, 1970, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and at the Brampton Hall, January 10, 1970 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., weather permitting.

Federal Commissions Won't Win Any Medals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal government has commissions on dirty books, old people, sports, motors, fires, Indians, veterans and—of course — the Golden Spike Centennial.

There are at least four federal study groups on libraries, two on postal problems, three on student loans, six on rivers and lakes and two on federal salaries.

Only one is concerned with the Father Marquette Tercentenary, but it apparently needs no help in coping with its responsibilities. The 12 commissioners don't have to report to Congress until 1974.

These were among 132 listings in a Library of Congress study of the boards, task forces, councils, commissions and committees created to advise the Congress and the executive branch since 1965.

The study, mentioned recently in a Congressman's speech, found that 59 of the commissions had no offices, no staffs and had not or did not plan to issue any reports.

One committee which did make a report was the one named to Review Relationships between the Central Intelligence Agency and Private American Voluntary Organizations.

It recommended that a second committee be established to study the problem.

Two years after the President's Committee on Libraries "as resources for scholarly pursuits..." was formed, it had filed no report. None was anticipated, researchers said, until after the report of the National Advisory Commission on Libraries.

When the researchers tried to determine whether the advisory commission had made a study, they were forced to conclude: "Presumably, the report should by this time have been submitted, but we are unable to ascertain whether this is in fact the case."

Another panel, the National Medical Review Committee, was authorized in 1965 with membership to be appointed by the secretary of health, education and welfare. But the committee was never constituted and no reports were ever issued.

When President Nixon took office, he created 10 new commissions to go along with the 169 which aides said already existed to advise the chief executive.

One panel named by former President Lyndon B. Johnson, the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence, received widespread publicity when it issued its final report this month. With it came a little-noticed suggestion from one member, U.S. Dist. Judge A. Leon Higginbotham.

He called for a national moratorium on commissions to probe the causes of racism, or poverty, or crime, or the urban crisis. There already has been too much study and too little action, said the judge.

A scanning of lists of commission members supports the view, held by some pundits, that there are but 27 real persons in all the world.

The same names appear persistently. AFL-CIO President George Meany, for example, was on six commissions, former Secretary of Commerce C. R. Smith on 12, and former Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman on 11.
